Transition considerations

The following considerations will be in place for a temporary period of transition to assist candidates impacted by the change in curricula and as a result, new exam arrangements. The points below reference the Dental Specialty Fellowship Examinations Eligibility Criteria published on 17 July 2025.

1. Requirement 3.2 will be applicable to those who start specialty training, (4.1) after 1 January 2026.
2. Requirement 3.2 will be applicable to those who start a UK or Ireland university clinical masters or clinical doctoral degree programme which parallels the training programme, (4.2) after 1 January 2026.
3. MJDF will be considered an acceptable alternative to MFDS.
4. RCSI MFD will be considered an acceptable alternative to MFDS if the candidate has passed the examination before May 2027, at which point the new tri-collegiate MFDS examination arrangements will take effect and the equivalence to MFDS will be reviewed.
5. A reciprocity agreement is in place for those candidates who have passed the knowledge component of the specialty membership examinations. These candidates will only be required to pass the clinical section of the Dental Specialty Fellowship Examinations to receive the fellowship qualification. Candidates will receive reciprocity for the knowledge component for 1 year after the last diet of the existing membership specialty examinations.
6. A reciprocity agreement is in place for those candidates who have passed the critical appraisal component of the specialty membership examinations. These candidates will only be required to pass the clinical section of the Dental Specialty Fellowship Examinations to receive the fellowship qualification. Candidates will receive reciprocity for the knowledge component for 1 year after the last diet of the existing membership specialty examinations.
7. A reciprocity agreement is in place for those candidates who achieve a pass in Part A in Dental Public Health in the ISFE examinations. Candidates who achieve a pass in Part A in Dental Public Health but do not attain a pass in Part B by the time of discontinuation of the ISFE examinations will be required to undertake the Dental Specialty Fellowship Examinations. Candidates will be awarded a certificate of completion for Part A, which may be submitted to receive an exemption from the Short Answer Questions (SAQ) element of the new examination. This exemption will be valid for examinations held before May 2029, irrespective of when ISFE Part A was achieved. Candidates who have not achieved a pass at the Dental Specialty Fellowship Examination before May 2029 will not be eligible for exemption and will require to take the new Short Answer Questions (SAQ) examination.

Candidates should note that this exemption is unique to Dental Public Health. An exemption may be granted in the specialty of Dental Public Health, as both the previous and revised examination formats include a comparable component. For the other dental specialties, the revised examination structure does not assess Critical Appraisal in this manner. Consequently, exemptions cannot be applied in those cases. There are no reciprocal arrangements in place for Part B Dental Public Health ISFE examinations. Candidates should refer to guidance above.
